Home of the Athletes Village for the 2010 Winter Olympic Games, the area is one of the fastest-growing mixed-used neighbourhoods in Vancouver.

Young millennials, first time home buyers, and young couples are moving into this rapidly growing community. Ready access to skytrain transit, urban bike, and walking trails, False Creek Village is just minutes to Vancouver's downtown core and sporting venues. Located on the waterfront of falls creek with low rise mixed-use and residential towers, this project is anchored by Urban Fare, London Drugs and the Historic Salt building which houses the massively successful Craft Restaurant.
